

Sign up for a PAID Service-Learning Opportunity:

Serviam Media's Summer 2012 Digital Media Workshops!

Great opportunity for high school and college students interested in Media/Communications, Education & Service.

Gain valuable hands on experience and impressive credit for your resume.

This summer, we will be holding workshops for youth - Media Mentors - and we have Workshop Leader positions to fill! To be eligible, you should be currently enrolled or recently graduated from a high school or college program, taking relevant courses and/or interested in the media production process (writing, planning, design, technology, teamwork).

The program is designed as an opportunity for young adults interested in media to get several days of training from professionals - for FREE! Even lunch is provided.

In exchange, with the support of professional staff, the Workshop Leaders put their skills to the practical test by spending the following week as one of 10 camp counselor team leaders, or MENTORS, working with youth (up to 20 per camp week) from Wilmington, Delaware to produce short videos, such as public service announcements and music videos on social issues and life skills.

You will be asked to commit to one or both sessions of workshops.

SESSION 1: July 11-13 (Training); Youth Camp: July 16-27

SESSION 2: August 1-3 (Training); Youth Camp: August 6-17

All programming takes place at our studio screening room in the Shipyard Center at Riverfront Wilmington.

Phone interviews and acceptances will be conducted throughout June.
Space is limited and the program will soon be filled - APPLY ASAP!

To apply for this opportunity, contact outreach@serviammedia.org or call 302-421-9936. Indicate your name, school and session(s) you are interested in!
