

Sign up your Youth to Join Us for Serviam Media's Summer 2012 Digital Media Workshops!

Serviam Media is hosting several FREE TO ATTEND media production camps in July & August at our Shipyard Center studios on Wilmington's Riverfront.

We are seeking students to participate in our Media Mentors program, where they will receive instruction from trained high school & college students - under the supervision and guidance of professional staff of Serviam Media and its sister studio, TELEDUCTION - and create their own media projects.

A camp week runs 10am to 3pm daily, Monday to Friday at our studio, located in the Shipyard Center at Riverfront Wilmington. There is no cost to attend and lunch/snacks are provided. There are four weeks available:

WEEK 1: July 16-20

WEEK 2: July 23-27

WEEK 3: August 6-10

WEEK 4: August 13-17

The programming repeats and for one or more weeks students will have chance to get involved in all the aspects of hands on production (screenwriting, design, performance, technology and teamwork). This year's topic is life skills and financial literacy - so participants will receive training and an opportunity to learn and express themselves on related issues.

We are looking for driven and creative students affiliated with Wilmington-based youth programs who otherwise might not have access to the state-of-the-art training our program will provide. (We will consider students without a youth program affiliation.)

Transportation will not be provided by Serviam Media, but may be arranged through participating youth programs.

To register for this camp, contact outreach@serviammedia.org or call 302-421-9936.
